Event description:
On April 22, 2025 at the Faculty of Technical sciences of University of Mitrovica organized inter project coaching meeting. The event has taken place in order to promote goals, work packages, consortium and project results as well as good practices were exchanged. During the meeting, representatives from different projects presented their objectives and progress. This included detailed discussions on their specific work packages—defined sets of tasks aimed at achieving particular project milestones. These presentations not only highlighted the accomplishments and milestones reached but also identified challenges and solutions, fostering an environment of collective problem-solving and innovation. Promotion of DGTRANS project was held by dr Aleksandra Petrović, coordinator of this project, from the Faculty of technical sciences, University of Mitrovica (UPKM). The event facilitated an exchange of good practices, where participants shared successful strategies and methodologies implemented in their respective projects. This exchange aimed to improve overall project efficiency and effectiveness by adopting proven practices and avoiding common pitfalls. Inter-project coaching meeting at the University of Mitrovica underscored the importance of collaboration and continuous learning in project management within the field of occupational safety. It was a significant step towards fostering a community of practice that can drive forward the collective mission of improving occupational safety standards through shared knowledge and cooperative effort.
